

Profile of Kim Sbarcea

Kim specializes in individual and organisational transformational change. With specific expertise in organisational knowledge sharing and leadership development, Kim helps individuals and organisations strive for performance excellence.

She has been the Chief Knowledge Officer for a global professional services firm and Director of Knowledge Management in a Federal Government agency in Australia. Kim also teaches Knowledge Management at Hong Kong Polytechnic where she is an Adjunct Professor. She is the editor of and contributor to Rethinking Knowledge (LexisNexis, 2002).

For the last 3 years, Kim has been engaged by a specialized agency of the United Nations based in Rome. Her work has included: competency development; knowledge and change management strategy development; business service delivery model; business processes analysis; mentoring and coaching.

In December 2013, she was invited to Bhutan to prepare the strategy for a new research institute, which included communities of practice.

She is a frequent conference speaker and workshop facilitator.